To whom it concerns

We have recently installed the software designed by "Digital Forecourt" in our Testing Centre and we find it to be very efficient in all areas.

It is extremely user friendly. As I had very little knowledge of computers I found that having been shown what to do a few times, I could follow the routine quite easily.

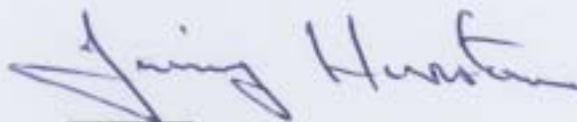

The data has been very carefully edited so that no time needs to be wasted looking up extra information.

The choice of touch screen, mouse or keyboard is very encouraging.

The back up service and help is literally only a phone call away.

I have no worries about using the program and feel that it can only improve our service to the customer.
